FOREWORD

What you are now enjoying is the 1956 Titanian. However, as this page is being written, the Titanian is still practically non-existent. At the present time you can find it spread out in room 55 in the form of snapshots, schedules, discarded sheets of paper containing misspelled names, and a group of 18 frustrated people. We, the staff, are in the midst of trying to co-ordinate our collective ideas to be bound neatly between two blue and white covers.

Yesterday we were overjoyed with our progress and optimistic toward the future of this book. Today we find that all the club pictures will have to be retaken (they were ruined in developing) and copy will have to start all over again (the finished stories seem to have disappeared somehow.) Tomorrow and the next day will be alternately encouraging and discouraging, and so the time will pass until the last page is safely at the publishers — and the staff can turn to something relaxing for a change, such as homework.

But until that day of the final deadline we will continually be trying to put out an annual that is consistent and takes into consideration your personal desires and interests. And we're looking forward to that day when at last we can look at our finished work and proudly say, "Here it is, your 1956 Titanian . . ."

Eric Wilson

EDITOR, 1956.

DEDICATION

to your pioneering spirit which has paved the way . . .

to the four memorable years of achievement . . .

to your numerous traditions which shall live through the years . . .

to your sincere loyalty and boundless enthusiasm . . .

to all this and more we proudly dedicate the 1956 Titanian to you, the first graduating class of San Marino High . . .

ADMINISTRATION

SUPERINTENDENT

The face above and those on the opposite page are probably familiar to you; they have appeared many places beneath the caption, "School Board." But do you realize the close relationship which exists between this group of men and San Marino High School life?

If there is need for a new building on campus or a question arises about interpreting a school policy, it is this council which weighs the matter and makes the final decision. Mr. Elmer C. Neher, Superintendent, and Mr. Walter Dingus, Principal, bring each major problem of the school to the board.

These same men have served since SMHS was founded, and through these past four years of rapid development they have continually directed its growth. Their decisions, advice, and approval have established the policies which you, the Student Body, carry out.

SCHOOL BOARD

PRINCIPAL

To the Seniors who are receiving their diplomas of graduation, we, the faculty, wish to extend our sincere congratulations. You have proved yourselves to be capable leaders and worthy pioneers during our organizational years. The opportunity to work for you and with you has been both a distinct privilege and a highly cherished pleasure. It is our most desired hope that your educational experiences will prove more than adequate to meet and master the problems you face.

The books of life are balanced from the daily entries which you make. In turn, these entries will be determined by what you do with your initiative to work, your power of reasoning, your application of acquired knowledge, and the benefit you gain from constructive criticism. These are the assets with which you must offset the liabilities encountered.

Within your control is the pen of life which will write the closing entry in your ledger. Only when this balance is shown as a profit can your job as life's bookkeeper be considered successful.

VICE PRINCIPALS

Did you ever spend a noon period waiting in the hall between the vice-principals' offices, wondering when one of the doors would open? Did you ask yourself, "What could they possibly be doing in there for so long?" And probably when the 1:55 bell rang, the doors opened and a student or two emerged from each.

Who were they? One might have been the "wise guy" who set fire to a trash can the day before. Maybe one was a senior with questions about college board exams, an AFS exchange student, the Girls' League president, or a Student Council member. All of these students come under the direct supervision of a vice-principal.

Discipline of all four classes is a major responsibility handled by the two; college entrance requirements and vocational guidance of seniors is another. Besides many other duties, Miss Walters is head sponsor of the Girls' League and over-all supervisor of the counseling system. Mr. Stephens serves as Boys' Forum sponsor and advisor to Student Council, representing the principal.

COUNSELORS

"But how do I know whether or not I'll like that college?"
"Do you think I can carry five solid courses?"
"My teachers give me too much homework!"

If these problems have a familiar ring you probably are well acquainted with one of the quartet above. Every student is assigned to a counselor who, through frequent "gripe and guidance" sessions, helps him make those important decisions of his high school career.

The incoming freshman first meets his counselor in the capacity of orientation teacher. Working together throughout all four years of high school, the two get to know each other well and the counselor can better advise the student concerning future plans.

OFFICE STAFF

It has been said that if every secretary in the United States should take the same day off, business would be forced to a standstill. This statement is open to argument, of course, but one thing is sure. San Marino High School would be in a rather pathetic state if these three, its office staff, should be among the missing.

In the main office, with Miss Taylor gone, the telephone would ring endlessly; no call could reach its destination since the master switchboard would be inactive. Supplies could not be issued to teachers, Mr. Dingus would be minus a secretary, and no receptionist would greet and direct visitors.

Things would be no better down the hall in the attendance office. Who's absent? Does that alibi deserve an excused tardy pass? Nobody would know without Miss McClain to keep up-to-the-minute accounts of who is where, when.

And can you imagine the confusion in the guidance office? There, a crowd of assorted students and counselors would be vainly trying to get together for conferences. It's a nice trick if you can do it without request slips, appointments, and scheduling. Miss Boyle's absence would be especially noticeable at report card time, since recording and filing grades is another of her major projects.

If there are any indispensable people at SMHS, its office staff would head the list.

MAINTENANCE

Before arriving on campus each morning most of you are picked up by one of SMHS's bus drivers; at noon you enjoy a warm meal, the result of San Marino's cafeteria crew; during phys. ed. you rely upon the services of Titan gym assistants.

However, after the 2:55 bell has rung, an important part of the maintenance crew is left unobserved. Long into the night, a crew of custodians carry on the task of cleaning each classroom, preparing the campus for the following day.

This is our maintenance crew, working in every way to make our life at SMHS a happy and comfortable one. In exchange for their efforts, we express our sincere appreciation.

DENNIS DePRY, president

A senior may be found anywhere . . . working in the concession stands, clearing away debris left at football games, or displaying his talent at the Senior Showboat; he can be found watching an assembly in his aqua sweater, and yet at the same time he'll be worrying about his future . . . mentally adding up those all-important grades, dreading the College Boards, and hoping he'll make the right choice concerning his next four years.

Our senior has two sides . . . he is the carefree student enjoying the spring play, and he is a solemn member of the first graduating class, proudly stepping forward to receive his diploma; he is the character in a derby hat attending a basketball game, and he is the person respected for his leadership and responsibility in setting up the traditions that will remain throughout the years at San Marino High. The effects of our senior will never be forgotten, nor will he himself ever forget being a senior. He will always look back on his high school life, and its climax . . . the celebrating and reminiscing at the all-night party during Grad Night, the very last time that he was a senior.

Did you go to the first Junior-Senior Prom in SMHS history? Do you consult a dog-eared little student directory each time that you make a phone call? Have you noticed the new set of gold class rings which are flashing around the campus? That's the Class of '57 in action.

The rings, which arrived shortly after Easter Week, identify the Juniors at a glance. This class made its campus debut last winter, selling Titan directories. These little blue and white booklets contain the name, class, address, and phone number of each SMHS student.

Proceeds from this successful project swelled the Junior Class fund which financed the Junior-Senior Prom in May. This was a social event not to be forgotten, as it set the precedent for many spring proms to follow.

Being second-best for three years could have been a discouraging experience for this class. This year's seniors have shouldered the leadership duties of San Marino High School, yet they have always been backed by the Class of '57. As the Juniors step into positions of responsibility, their potential at last can be recognized. The graduating class leaves accomplishments that will be hard to equal. Realizing this, the Class of '57 is preparing to take the lead in a way that will meet the highest expectations of San Marino High School, its students, administration, and alumni.

CLASS OF '58

TONY DEAN, president

They out-yell every other class at assemblies; their concession stand at basketball games earned a sweeping profit; pep and enthusiasm are their trademarks. Who are they? The Class of '58!

This is a group determined to create a place for itself at SMHS, and the spot is already in the making. During their two years on campus, the sophomores have gained a reputation for unexcelled class spirit and cohesiveness. A budding crop of leaders among the underclassmen has become apparent, and these younger Titans are giving their older competitors a run for their money in athletics and school offices alike.

Originality, too, is a trait well distributed among the sophomores. Building an Eiffel Tower for their annual spring dance, "The Continental," was one of their noted flashes of inspiration. Their campaign themes brought into play during elections also drew considerable comment.

As the Class of '58 steps into the upperclassmen division, the rest of the student body is keeping an eye on it. With a background such as theirs, the sophomores are expected to come to the fore with top ability and enthusiasm during the second half of their San Marino High School life.

JOE BATTAGLIA, president

"I am a lowly freshman, and I hope some day to be as wise as you." When the Class of '59 was initiated at the start of the year, it found itself looking up to three sets of upperclassmen. A four-year high school at San Marino had at last become a reality!

Freshmen activities took on a new meaning this year. With refreshing vitality the frosh conducted the yearly Christmas drive to collect food for a Mexican orphanage. St. Patrick's Day found them sponsoring "The Isle of Green Rock" as the annual freshman class dance. And early in the spring the Class of '59 added a new activity to the list of traditions—the first annual Freshman Day. Planned and carried out by members of the class, an afternoon of recreation was climaxed by a pot-luck supper.

For their last activity of the year, the freshmen played host to the student body during the annual Titanian-signing party. And as their activities and the school year came to a close, the freshmen left for the summer—dreaming of their sophomore year and the initiation they could plan for the "lowly" incoming class.

ORGANIZATIONS

DON CARR, president

With his winning personality and capacity for leadership, Don Carr has guided the SMHS student body throughout the past year. The students' confidence in his ability was evidenced by the great majority of votes he received, and his council confirms that this trust was well placed.

DAVE SEELY, vice president

STUDENT BODY OFFICERS

"I, realizing the importance of this office and my obligations to my fellow students, do accept these responsibilities and promise to do my best to fulfill my duties."

That's the way it all started for the 1955-56 ASB officers. With this oath of office, they shouldered the largest responsibility a student can hold, that of governing the entire enrollment of San Marino High School.

Each of them is a top-notch student both academically and in citizenship. They must keep up their grades during the entire term, or forfeit their offices.

Not only do they spend an hour in class each day tackling the problems of the student body, but committee work demands attention after school hours. Investigating new club constitutions, approving emblems and rings, setting up new laws and policies, appointing or removing officers, and budgeting all ASB funds are only representative of their many miscellaneous duties.

This year's Student Council and those councils of the previous three years of SMHS history have earned for themselves and for those to follow, a place deserving the high respect of students and administrators alike.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

The SMHS female is a fascinating creature; she has a wid variety of talents, ideas, and interests. By encouraging thes abilities, the Girls' League helps each girl to find her place i campus life. Is she a live wire with a persuasive personality Then the ways and means committee gives her a chance t shine, as they carry out a myriad of fund-raising projects. extra-special friendliness her best quality? Then she'll choos the friendship committee and help to welcome each new gi who enters the school. There is an opportunity in Girls' Leagu work for everyone, and each girl is automatically a membe Fun and friendship are their rewards for school service.

Does she wear a gray skirt to school? Did you see her dancing the "Firehouse Fantasy"? Has she worked on the cafeteria clean up crew at least once? Then there's no doubt about it; she's on of those terrific Titan gals.

BOYS' FORUM

here can you find the biggest collection of athletic heroes, illiant scholars, student leaders, and school-spirited boys? ey're all in the SMHS Boys' Forum.

lling football programs at each home game was the first proj- t of the year for this group. More funds rolled into the Forum ffers when they presented The Great Irby, master magician. t money-raising isn't their only interest by far. Entertainment provided each Thursday noon as the Bob and Ron show blasts ross the campus with the latest hit tunes and request numbers. riginality is a trade mark of the Boys' Forum annual dance; is year's production was the "Hillbilly Hustle." School service, o, plays a major part in Forum activities. Its campus clean-up ogram has been in effect for three years.

hrough this organization, the Boys' Forum, a group spirit and yalty has developed among the male population of SMHS.

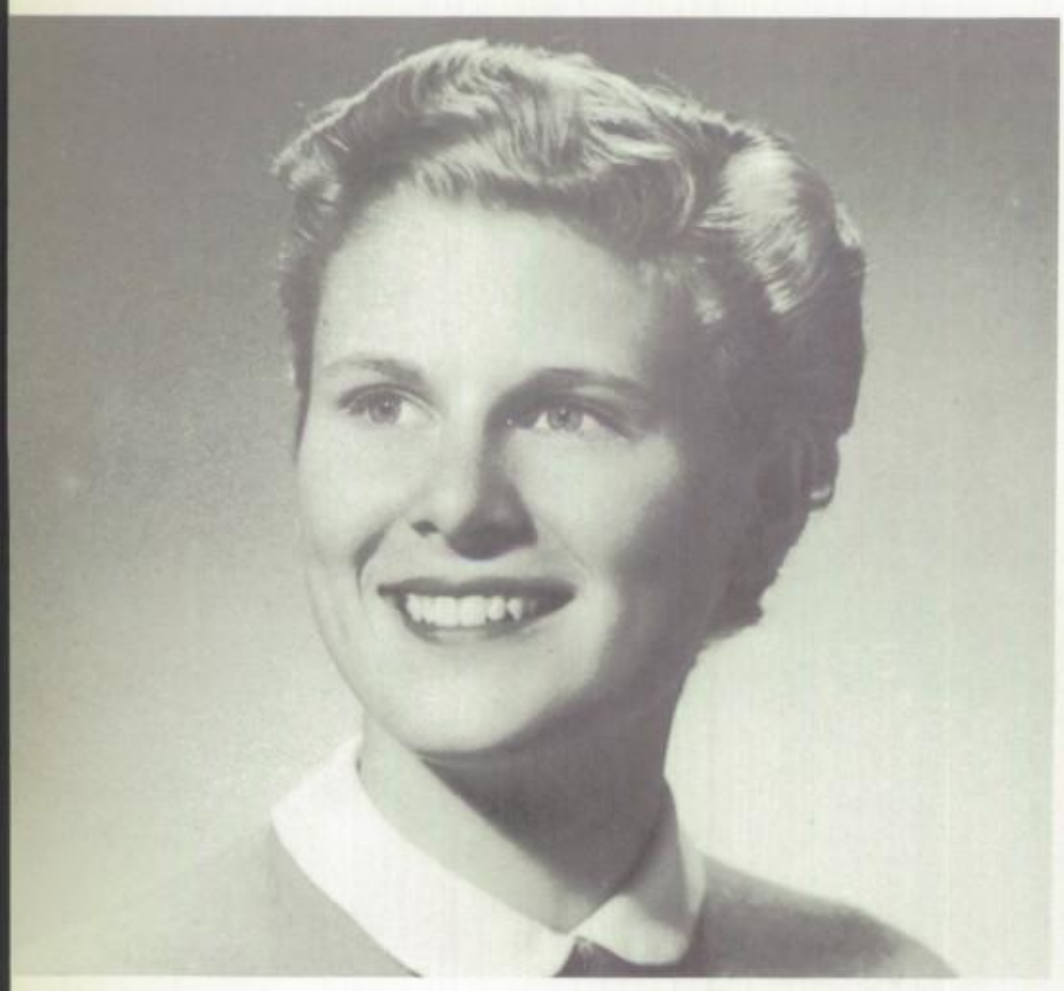
AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE

"Walk together, talk together, o ye peoples of the earth." With this principle in mind, the American Field Service exchange program sends students from high schools throughout the United States to fourteen different European countries, New Zealand, and Japan. During the summer these AFS students, as junior ambassadors of good will, live for two months with a European family, participating in its activities and actually experiencing a different way of life.
The American Field Service winter program gives European students an opportunity to spend a year attending high school in the United States, besides living with an American family. This year our school was fortunate in having from the AFS program Juan de la Fuente from Madrid, Spain. Adapting to SMHS high school life quickly, Juan's personality made him a welcome addition on campus, as he helped form a better understanding between his country and ours.

JUAN DE LA FUENTE
Madrid, Spain.



CLAIRE FALLAS was chosen this year to represent SMHS abroad. Living for two months with a foreign family, Claire will spend the summer in Sweden.

LAST YEAR'S STUDENTS: Eric Wilson, Berlin, Germany; Bob Campbell, Athens, Greece; Carolyn Hess, Hamburg, Germany; David Seely, Larvig, Norway.

PROMETHEANS

Service is the purpose of this club. Their name is a notable symbol traceable to Prometheus, last of the Titan gods. According to mythology, Prometheus bestowed upon man the gift of fire, fulfilling the greatest service of all the gods.
Thus, it is fitting that members of the Prometheans render service both to the school and community, participating in projects from passing out White Canes to ushering at school events. Each spring applicants to Prometheans are awarded points according to individual service to the school, citizenship, leadership, and scholarship. The top-ranking ten juniors and fifteen seniors are ultimately eligible for membership. These outstanding people will, from year to year, carry on the traditions of Prometheans, contributing to San Marino the greatest gifts possible—service built upon foundations of honor.

CSF

Acting as an incentive to the best in scholarship, Chapter 462s is San Marino's branch of th California Scholarship Federation. "Scholarship for Service" is the motto of this group whic recognizes the outstanding students of the school.

CSF, however, is not simply a club for mental giants and budding geniuses. Through a detaile extra-curricular rating system, membership may be earned by a combination of high grades an school service.

Privileges awarded to the club include an hour of school time each month in which to hol meetings and one day each semester for excursions. Also, scholarships are offered to membe and life membership in CSF may be earned. The latter honor is shown by a gold CSF seal on th high school diploma, and carries a good deal of weight when applying for college entrance.

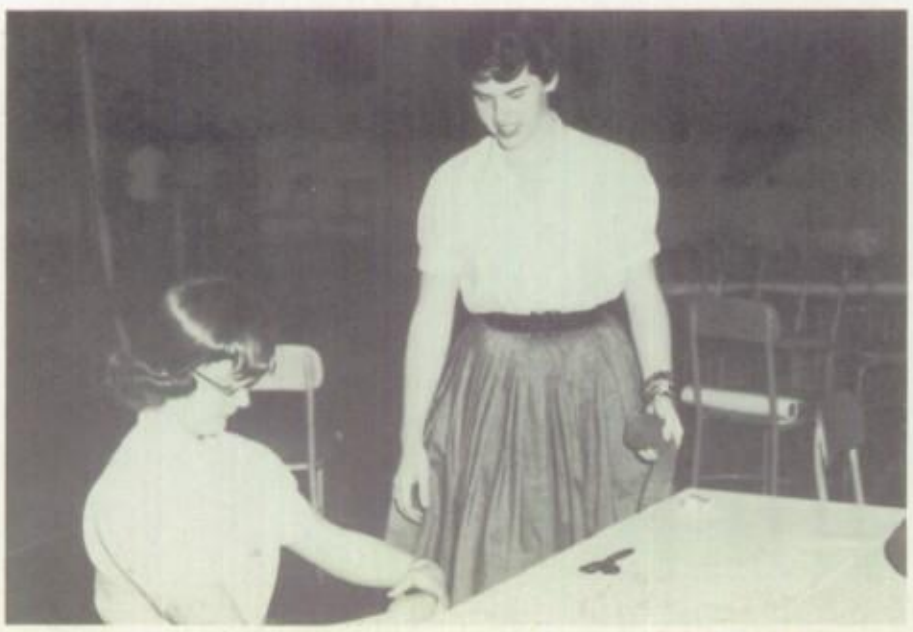
SOCIAL COMMITTEE

One of the first clubs formed on campus, the social committee has grown tremendously in the last three years, establishing many social traditions. This year, the welcome dance which begins the SMHS social season, the football dance, and the annual Titan Revue, covering the events of the year in retrospect, were all planned and executed by this committee, under the leadrship of the ASB social chairman. Helping with the Rio Hondo League party was another major project.



PEP COMMISSION

One football game fell on the night of a school holiday, yet all that afternoon the group at the right painted signs and dangled from goal posts getting the stands and field in shape for the evening's activity. The busses which took you to the last three CiF playoff games were chartered by the Pep Commission. And do you remember the pep rally and parade before the final football victory? These students were responsible for that too, as well as for most of the pep-producing projects of the year.

ACTIVITIES

DENNIS DePRY and SUSAN SNODGRASS were selected as the most outstanding boy and girl of the Senior Class.

OUTSTANDING STUDENTS

The selection of the most outstanding boy and girl of each class has by now become a regular feature of the Titanian. Early in the spring of each year, members of the faculty are requested to write down their recommendations for the most outstanding two boys and girls of each class. From a list of all those mentioned by the faculty, the two boys and girls of each class with the largest number of faculty recommendations have their names placed on a ballot.
The final selection is made from this ballot by a vote of the entire student body. In voting, the candidates are judged on the following points: citizenship, attitude, service to the school, character, scholarship, relationship with teachers and students, participation in school activities, loyalty, initiative, and enthusiasm.
From the many outstanding people nominated, the students on these two pages were finally selected. Congratulations to these school leaders for their achievement in winning this honor.

JIM McDONALD and DEANNA WALKER were chosen as the most outstanding students of the Junior Class.

HELEN HARRIS and TONY DEAN represent the Sophomore Class as its most outstanding students.

DAVE BOYLE and MARGERY MERRIS were chosen as the most outstanding freshman students.

FOOTBALL QUEEN

SHARON LITTLE

PRINCESS CHERYL FOOTE

PRINCESS LINDA HICKEY

. . . AND HER COURT

Weeks ahead, glittering posters appeared around campus announcing Saturday night, November 5, as the date of the Royal Ball. The Varsity football team held a top-secret meeting, and then went about its job of circulating different and assorted rumors as to the queen's identity. When time for the coronation rolled around, speculation was at its highest.

And so she was crowned; Queen Sharon Little was hailed as the first monarch chosen by a Titan Varsity squad. Reigning with her were the two princesses, Cheryl Foote and Linda Hickey.

Before the next football game, the Titan royalty circled the field in a coral and white convertible. Dressed in sweaters and skirts to match the car, they made a regal entrance to occupy places of honor on the sidelines at the 50-yard marker, thus ending their seven-day reign of festivity and fanfare.

SONG LEADERS

Now when they come out of the huddle, let's really yell!"
Okay, everybody up for 'Stamp-Clap.' "
Oh come on, you guys, they can't even hear you!"
Don't these phrases bring a series of memories parading through your mind? They hould, because they have been heard at every major sports event throughout the ast year, as yell leaders, song leaders, and flag girls spurred on the Titan rooters. emember the baffled looks which crossed the opponents' faces each time the SMHS ell leaders called for the "Hi-Fi Yell"? Seeing the entire rooting section stand up vith arms waving and not a sound coming forth really set them back on their heels! ust the opposite effect on the student body was registered during pep rallies. The ong leaders raised the auditorium roof during that assembly when they first taunted, What's the matter, can't you take it?"
t would be impossible to forget the six flag girls while reviewing the past cheering eason. Each time during a football game when the band began a number, these girls would trot out onto the track and break into a peppy flag-waving routine.
's a tribute to all these spirited students when a resident living on the farthest out- kirts of San Marino says, "I knew there was a game at the high school last night. could hear them cheering."

BAND

Bouncing 150 miles in a crowded bus to help generate school spirit s all in a day's work for the 50 members of the Titan Band. Under he direction of Mr. Charles Costarella, this group has become a precision-drilled, symphonic marching band that San Marino High School may point to with pride.

The versatile musicians this year have shown their ability at many porting events, as well as leading pep rallies. On the more serious ide, they represented SMHS at the Southern California Music Festival, presented an evening's entertainment for the PTA, and joined vith the chorus in their annual Spring Concert.

n their braid-trimmed uniforms, the Titan Band has marched hrough intricate drills which would put many college bands to hame. But for years to come, each San Marino student will remember them playing the piece which no other group can present nalf so well — the Alma Mater.

Eric Wilson, editor

The letter from the publisher reads, "Your deadline is swiftly approaching, and we trust that . . ."

While our publisher is trusting that . . . what is our faithful staff doing? Let's take a look.

The copy editor approaches, carrying a ceramic dog by the tail, and inquires, "When is the next Future Homemaker's meeting?" The faculty advisor looks up from his Sunset magazine, retrieves the dog, and returns to his reading. The art editor announces, "I must find Mr. Brister!" She scampers out, hurrying past the sports editor who is admiring the display of first-grade drawing techniques.

As the editor sits perched complacently on a desk-top, a member of the photography crew enters, salutes, and asks if he may have a full-page picture of himself in the book, as a token of merit for his services. Before anyone can answer, a second photographer enters the room. "The camera's missing again," he states, and leaves a dripping-wet negative on the table. Inspecting it, we find it to be a dramatic basketball action photo; the players' legs are surging eagerly forward. The shot would be perfect, were it not that the picture cuts the players off at the waist and displays only their legs. But then perfection is not to be found anywhere — especially in a yearbook class.

THE STAFF

In November, 1953, a five page mimeographed sheet carrying the headline "A Paper Is Born" was issued to the student body. Three issues later the paper announced its name — The Titan Shield.
Inconveniences seemed to be the trademark of the first journalism class. Amid the Latin class projects the staff produced their paper with two typewriters and a temperamental mimeograph machine. The following year the staff was awarded a room of its own, but the equipment remained the same — until December, 1954, when the staff was able to present to the student body a four page printed paper. This year a third staff undertook the job of publishing and carrying out the traditions of the bi-weekly paper.
As a result of hard work and firm determination for the best always, the Titan Shield has made rapid progress since November, 1953, when the first staff announced — "A Paper Is Born."

Drama became a major activity on the Titan campus this past season. Not one, but three full programs were presented, each one backed by a crew numbering over fifty actors, backstage assistants, and student directors.

Those with a longing for the footlights need not be enrolled in the dramatics classes. All-school tryouts were held for each production. "A Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens was adapted for the stage by Miss Mary Kincheloe, drama teacher, and given as a Christmas assembly. It was an unusual presentation featuring a running narration and difficult lighting techniques.

"First Nighters," an evening of entertainment which benefited the SMHS PTA, took place in February. Major one-act plays included the Sophomore Class's presentation, a comedy by Chris Sengel called "Who Gets the Car Tonight?" A realistic train set highlighted Frank Sturm's "She's a Neat Job," which the Junior Class gave. On the more dramatic side, the seniors' performance was Verne Poweres' "High Window." This was later taken to the Pasadena Playhouse for a one-act play contest.

Participation in these plays earned membership for a number of actors in the Thespians, a nationwide drama club. A local organization was formed which sponsored the spring play, "No More Homework" by John Henderson. In this rollicking comedy, the Thespians showed what happens when the student council takes over the administration of a high school in the absence of the principal.

Plays are performed and the cast is applauded. But no one applauds these three people who make the play what it is. Bob Campbell, lighting director; Miss Mary Kincheloe; and John Chadsey, stage manager.

DANCES

. . . And so we danced the whole year through! A football victory and a Titan Queen — life at SMHS began in the fall with great celebration! And as months passed by, the fun and fellowship characteristic of the campus continued to create parties and dances for the amusement of all. The Boys' Forum "Hillbilly Hustle" and the Girls' League "Firehouse Fantasy"; the All-League Dance; the Frosh "Isle of Green Rock" and the Sophomore "Continental" — all provided laughs and excitement!

With the coming of spring came a new and wonderful experience for the upper classmen. The Junior-Senior Prom at the Huntington-Sheraton Hotel created many a beautiful memory of high school life. And as the year drew to a close, the entire student body looked back over the events of a wonderful experience like a couple leaving a party — the Titan Review, a summary of campus activities, ended the year on a perfect note!

AND ACTIVITIES

Activities follow in a sequence of exciting events which involve the entire student body. At the first of the year there was Frosh Day, devoted to the recognition and welcome of the lowly newcomers to SMHS.

Then an eagerly anticipated event took place in the gym — the Faculty-Varsity basketball game. With great enthusiasm and support for both teams, the Faculty was carried to victory in this annual contest.

Later came the Iowa Tests for both the Senior and Junior Classes. One and a half days were spent in hard toil so that academic achievement on campus might be measured. But with the mention of these activities, the story of life at SMHS has only begun. They represent a year of those special school-centered activities which make high school such a memorable experience.

THE COACHES AND CAPTAIN

At the conclusion of our successful football season I would like to express my gratitude to the students and members of the community who supported our championship football team all the way. Their support from the stands gave the team the extra spirit and desire to win, when it counted the most during the season.

Many of the boys on the team had the honor of receiving awards over and above their letters. I would like to congratulate these players, for I know their extra honors were well deserved. But I am also sure that every one of them will agree with me in saying that these boys could not have gone as far as they did without the support of the entire team.

The team did an outstanding job this past season as their record certainly shows. I can easily say this was one of the finest teams I have had the honor to coach.

LETTERMEN

During the past season, many of the San Marino Titan football players — the CIF champions — received awards over and above the usual letters.

Skip Face, Halfback, was the top scoring player of the southland's teams, with nearly 200 points. He also received the honor of being named the Player of the Year for the Northern Section of the CIF; he was a first string all-CIF and Rio Hondo halfback. Brad Peery, Fullback, took a first string berth on the All Rio Hondo team and was selected a second team member of the All-CIF team. Ron Glasoe, Tackle, also received the same honors as Peery, being named on the All-Rio Hondo team and taking second-team honors on the All-CIF team. The players that received honors on the All-Rio Hondo teams besides Skip Face, Ron Glasoe and Brad Peery, were Ted Patten, Guard; Bill Cooper, End; George Walker, Halfback; Tom Cottle, Quarterback; Spencer Crane, End; Rich Thatcher, Center; Dave Mills, Tackle; and Dick Chalk, Halfback. Honorable Mentions from San Marino were Mike Rodi, End; Bob Roy, Tackle; Louie Ocello, Guard; and Sam Self, Middle Guard.

With their first Varsity win of the season, defeating the Arcadia Apaches 21 to 7, the San Marino Titans showed they would be serious contenders for the Rio Hondo loop crown. Sparked in this game by Skip Face, the Titans rolled up a one touchdown lead by halftime and scored again in the last half. In their next game with San Gabriel High, the Titans again showed their power by whipping the Matadors 40 to 7 for their first home game. San Marino started off the game slowly, but finally caught hold in the last half and scored three times.

After their game with Citrus the Titans collected their third straight win of the year, but only after one of their most exciting tilts. Citrus scored twice early in the game to give them a 12-point margin throughout most of the first half. However, San Marino finally came back to score twice late in the second quarter. Dick Chalk made both his conversions, giving San Marino a 14 to 12 lead midway in the game. In the second half the Titans showed their superiority by adding two more touchdowns.

In their last practice game of the season the Titans chalked up another victory, beating the North Torrance Saxons 48 to 7. With this win, San Marino was all prepared to meet Santa Fe in the Rio Hondo league opener. In the above action shot, Skip Face is caught by the camera carrying the ball as fullback Rich Vanasek blocks. To the right, George Walker dumps a Saxon fullback.

The Titan Varsity set a school record by smashing the Santa Fe Chiefs 78 to 0. The Santa Fe team was definitely no match for the Titans as was observed by the spectators.

In the first quarter, Tom Cottle passed 37 yards to Skip Face for the first touchdown of the game, which was followed minutes lates by a hand off from Cottle to Face for a second score. In the following quarters the scores added up to a 78 to 0 total.

The Titans of San Marino again proved their strength, beating the Artesia Pioneers 54 to 0. They scored touchdowns the first three times they gained control of the ball. Skip Face made two of the scores while Brad Peery collected the third on a 60 yard screen pass. Face missed his first conversion, the only one of the evening.

In the first half, the Pioneers threatened only once; they marched for three first downs in a row before the defense, sparked by linebackers Art Hurd and Darry Kerckhoff, caught hold. Throughout the rest of the game the first string was able to see only a bit of action, however Skip Face appeared long enough to score his third touchdown of the evening.

The San Marino Titans again were shown little competition as they met and beat the Bell Gardens Lancers 21 to 0. Although the score may seem close for the Titans, they managed to stay in control throughout most of the game.

Brad Peery kicked off for the Titans, booting a beautiful one down in the endzone of Bell Gardens. On the second series of plays, John Albers recovered a fumble, setting up the first Titan touchdown. The next play Peery drove all the way, with Face making the conversion.

With the Titans winning this game over Temple City 54 to 0, it was a fitting climax for what most people thought would be the Titans' last home game. This game was undoubtedly the Titans' all the way, with San Marino piling up points one right atrer the other.

In the first of the game, however, Temple City came up with a defense which stopped the Titans' rushing plays. But with Tom Cottle's throwing arm and a number of capable receivers, San Marino gained most of its yardage through the air lanes.

Richard Peyton, halfback, is pictured carrying the ball with the help of Dave Mills', John Wagner's and Ward Caldwell's blocking. This play netted the Titans a first down.

In the game with South Pasadena, the traditional rivals of San Marino, the Titans proved themselves the better team, winning 27 to 0. With this victory, SMHS captured the Rio Hondo League crown and a place in the CIF playoffs. Although the score may seem a little one-sided, this was not the case. In fact, until the third quarter both teams were held scoreless. However, in the last half the Titans exploded and scored four times. Skip Face again starred for San Marino, snagging a pass seconds before the end of the game for the final touchdown. In the right-hand photo, Skip Face is pictured dropping a pass from QB Tom Cottle. Below, Face straight-arms a Tiger defender as Ted Patten blocks.

After winning the Rio Hondo league, the Titans entered the CIF playoffs. In their first game of the playoffs the San Marino Titans came from behind to whip the St. Francis Knights 32 to 18. The San Marino Titans moved another step closer to the CIF championship by crushing Pomona Catholic High 38 to 0. This being the quarter finals, the Titans had to face two more teams before capturing the small schools CIF crown. In this game the Titans showed that they had one of the best balanced teams in the CIF, playing the game without the services of Skip Face, the southland's top back. Even with the loss of this scoring threat, SMHS hit the paydirt the first three times they had control of the ball.

Fullback Brad Peery, in the lower picture, is caught driving up the center. Two unidentified blockers along with end Bill Cooper are also pictured.

After winning the second CIF playoff game, the Titans were scheduled to play Santa Maria, the number one team in their league. This was supposed to be San Marino's hardest battle, but the Titans rose to the occasion and easily whipped the Saints 48 to 7, putting SMHS into the finals with Paso Robles.

In their final game of the season the Titans finally cinched the CIF crown, beating Paso Robles 14 to 0. This tilt proved to be San Marino's toughest game as they held only a 7 point margin throughout the game. However, Dick Chalk, in the last seconds of play, sprinted 55 yards to score.

In the upper photo Sophomore back Pete Rodi is caught ripping off a huge gain in the Santa Maria game. Skip Face, Bill Cooper, and George Walker were also in on the play. The lower picture shows two Titan players downing a back from Paso Robles. The Titans won this game 14 to 0 and also took the CIF Championship.

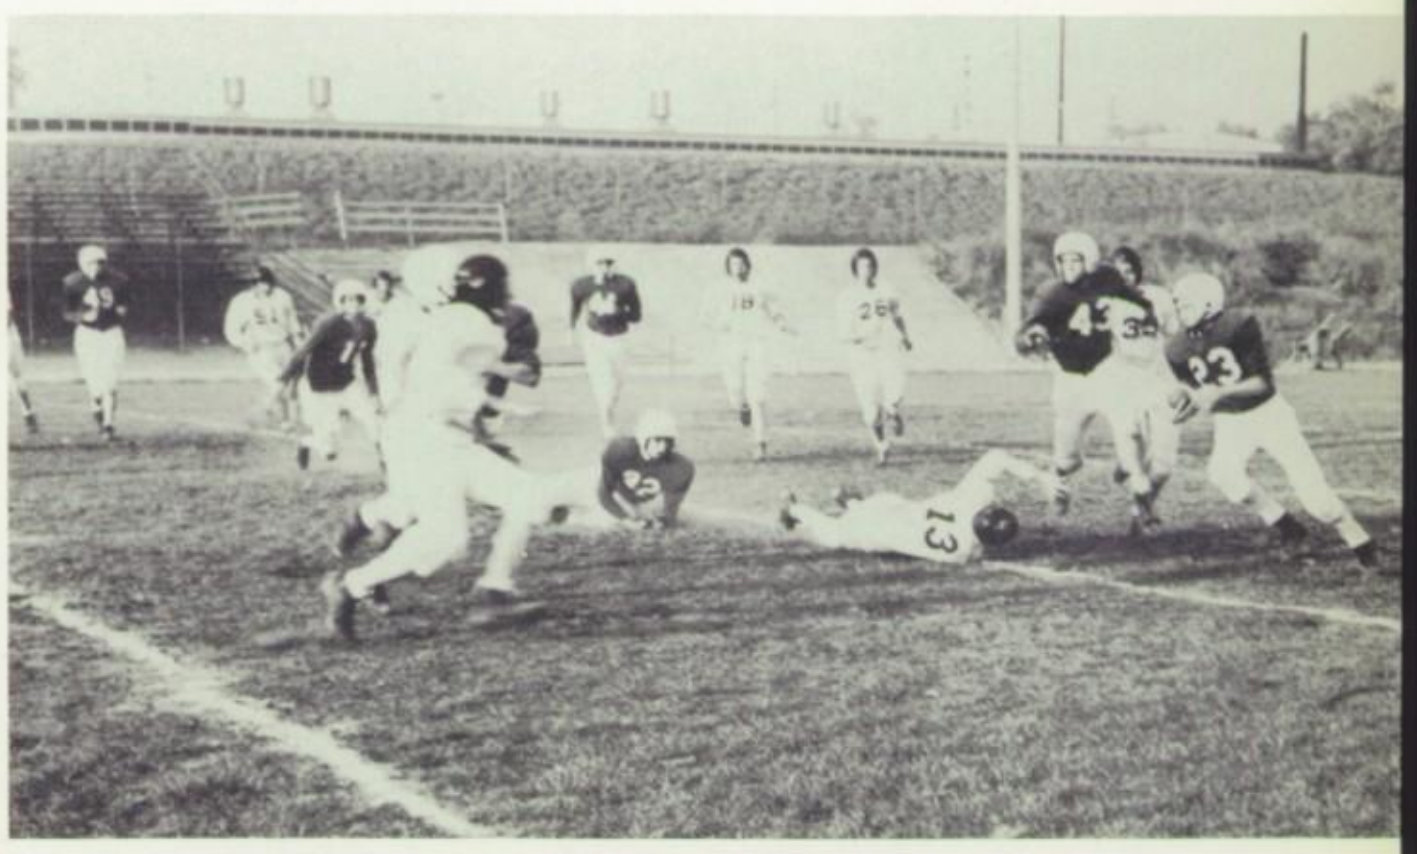
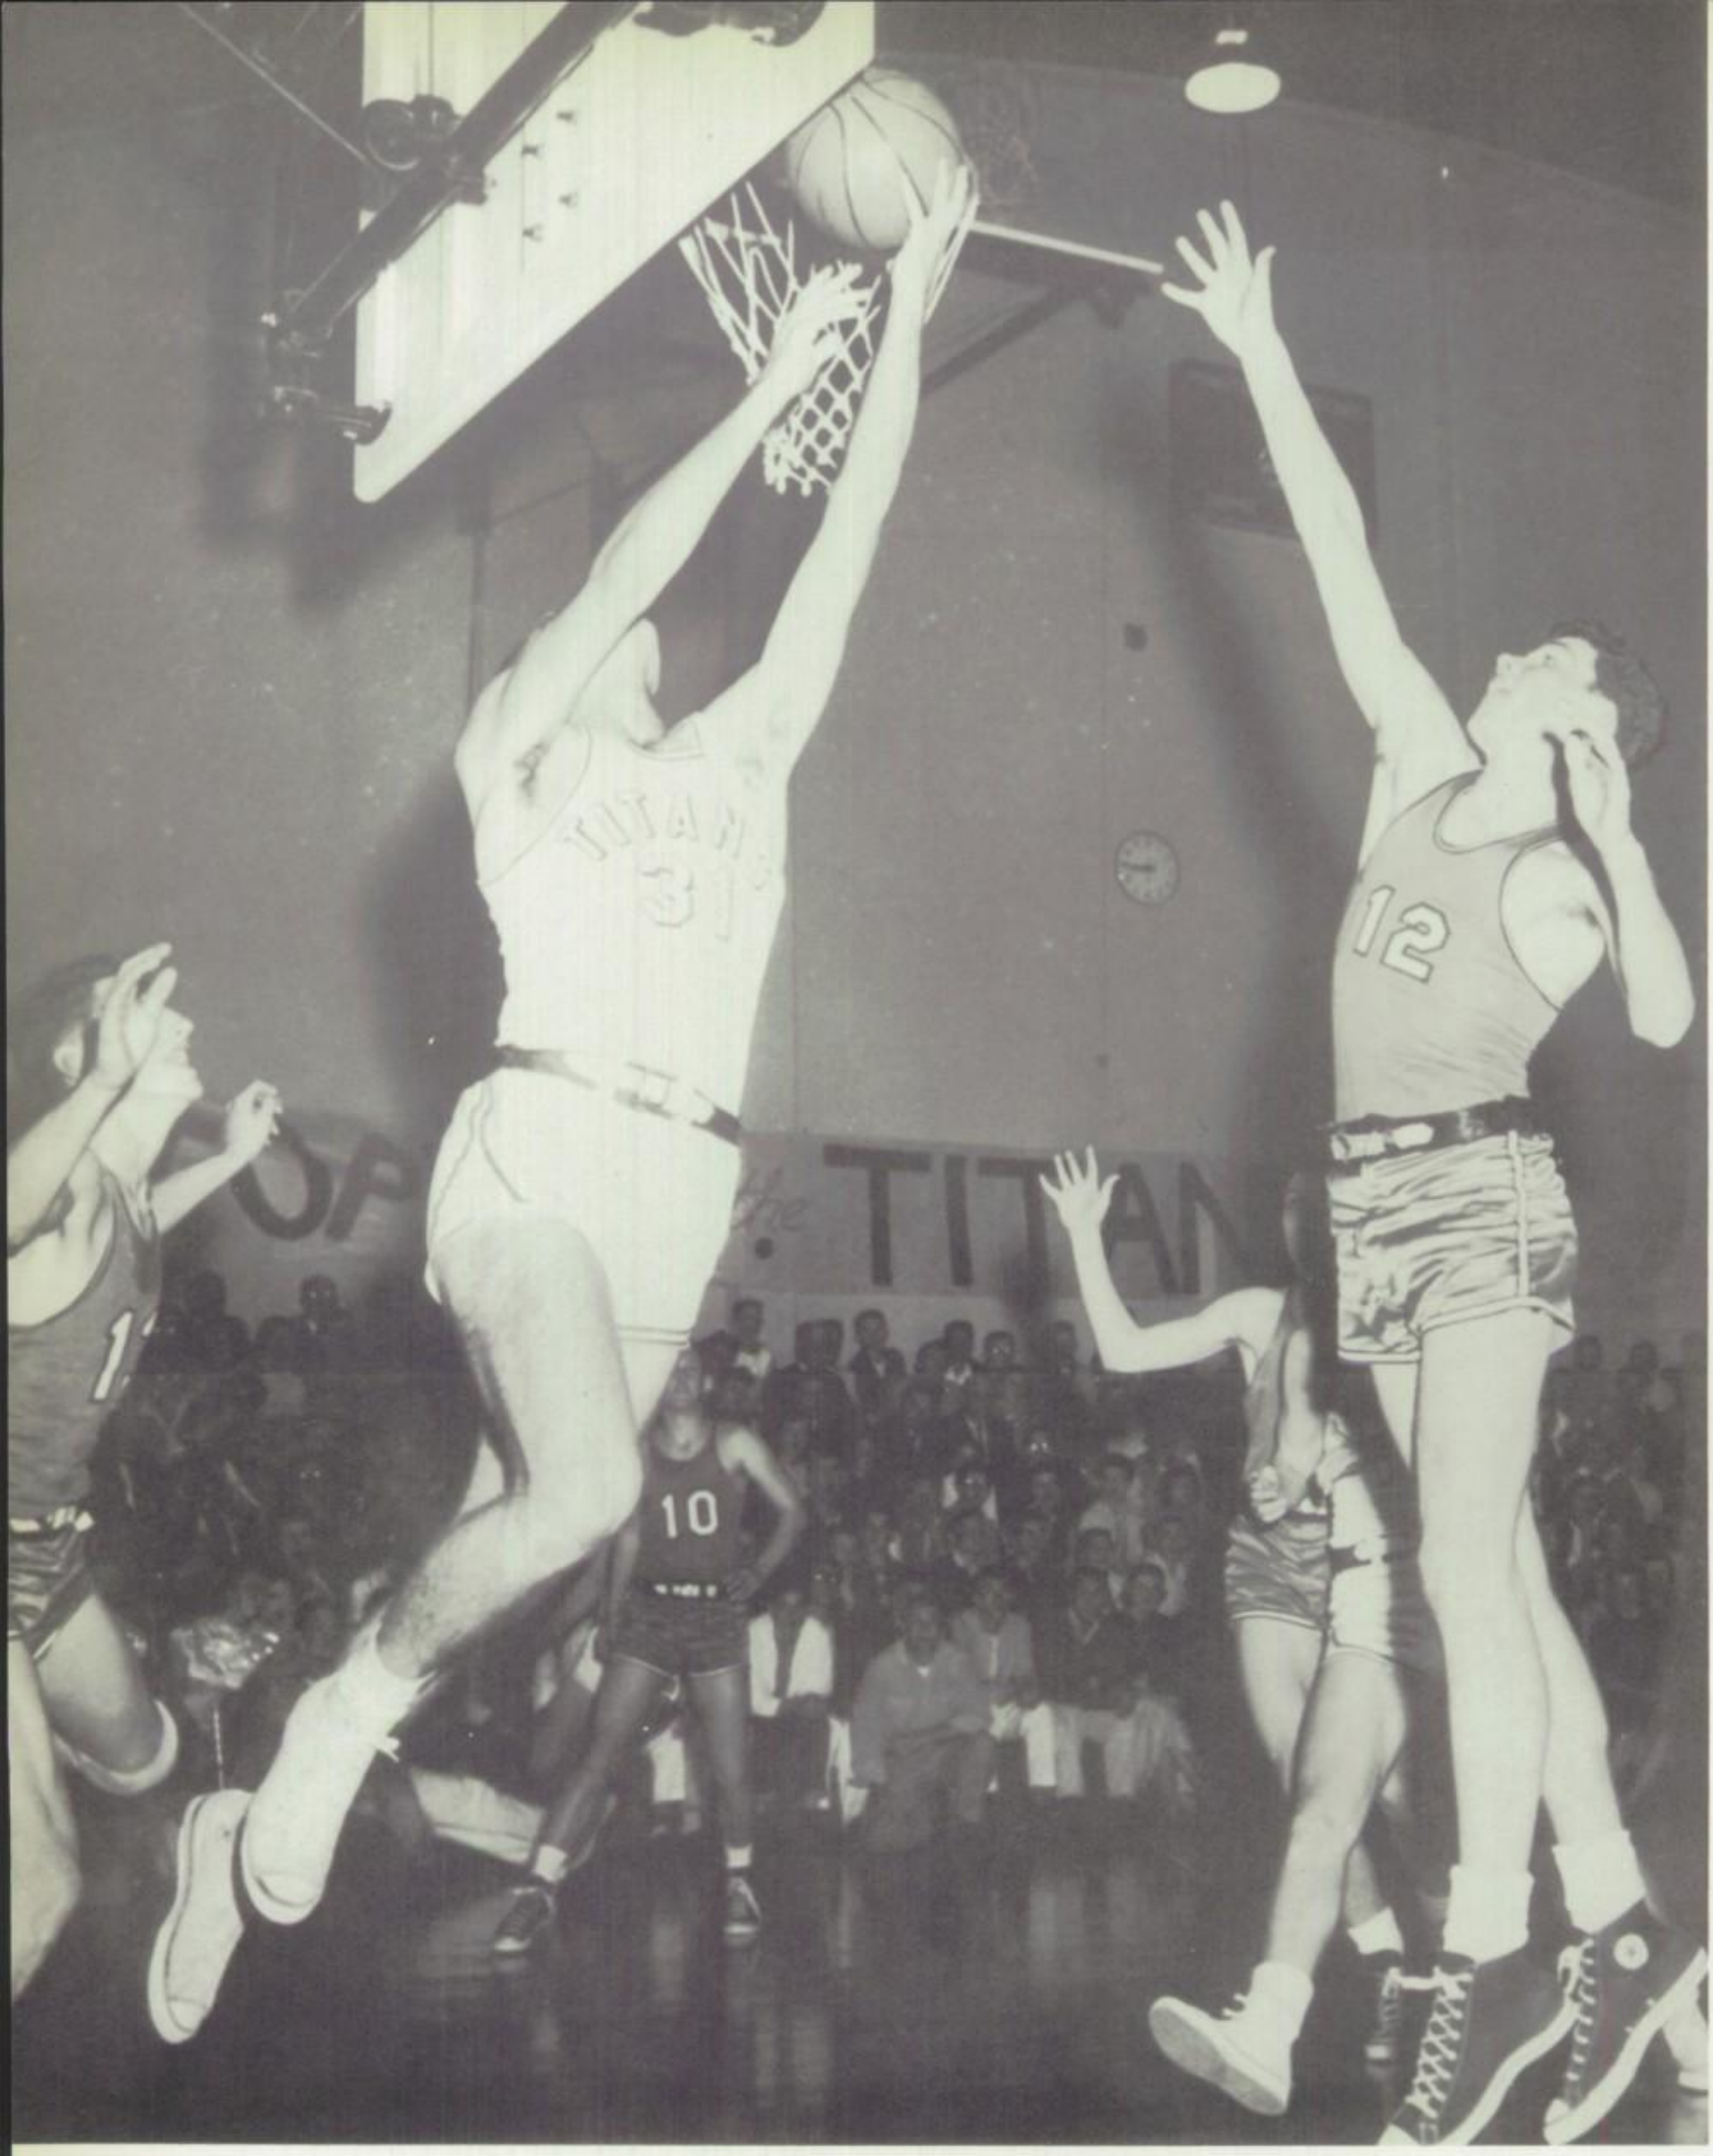
BEE ACTION

Halfbacks Ben Garrett and Chris Summerell are shown tackling a San Gabriel fullback on an end sweep with Bill Warnock pictured coming to assist on the play. The Titan Bees won this thriller with San Gabriel 7 to 0 on our home field.
The Bee team had an outstanding record this past season, losing only one league game — 7 to 6—with the Artesia Pioneers. This one loss put them in a tie for first place with the Pioneers at the end of the year.

CEE ACTION



Bob Chehock runs an off-tackle play to score the Titan Cee team's lone score in their game with San Gabriel. San Marino dropped this tilt 30 to 6 on our home field. The Cees boasted a better than average record this last season, losing only to Santa Fe and Artesia in league play.



BASKETBALL

THE COACH AND CAPTAIN

During the past basketball season one of the best indications of a good team came into light concerning our own varsity team. After a rather average start we ended up the season as one of the top contenders of the Rio Hondo League Championship. With the help of Brad Peery, captain, and the rest of the team, the Titan basketballers proved themselves very deft on the floor. As the season went on, the team as a whole improved greatly. The Temple City Rams whipped the Titans early in the league season, but when San Marino met them again the Titans won 57 to 44. By beating the Rams, who went on to win the Rio Hondo League title, the Titans showed the kind of improvement that is the mark of a good team.

BEE TEAM

The Titan Bee basketball hoop squad ended up their season the champions of the Rio Hondo League. The game with Temple City was the only blemish on their league schedule. The Bee team lost this tilt late in the season on our own hardwood.

VARSITY TEAM

The San Marino Titan varsity track team showed great strength this past season by being one of the top squads in the Rio Hondo League.

Last year the team was composed of juniors and underclassmen, and they showed a lot of potential by winning the majority of their meets.

Early in the season Coach Schwenk expressed great hope for his team in the coming season. He said that "San Marino should have the strongest squad in the Rio Hondo League."

In the Pasadena Games, one of the outstanding meets of the season, San Marino's Dave Mills took a first in the shot put; many other athletes from San Marino also placed in the meet. This was another good indication that San Marino would have a very powerful track team.

sportsmanship award

During the first, formative year of San Marino High School's existence, the Girls' Athletic League came into being. Led by Miss Pauline Cheuvront, girls' physical education teacher, the GAL received the first club charter granted by student council. It was a major organization that year, and although many new clubs have been chartered since, GAL has grown steadily and held its place as the largest group of its kind.

This year, Mrs. Shirley Aney became a second advisor. Membership has reached 210 — so many that it was impossible to include all members in the picture space on these pages.

GAL affords the only opportunity for girls to participate in organized athletics outside of physical education classes. A wide variety of sports are offered, including table tennis, tennis, volleyball, basketball, softball, and swimming. Meeting approximately twice a week, the members take part in after-school tournaments for each activity.

At the end of every year, the group elects one girl whom they consider to have shown outstanding sportsmanship in GAL participation. Jean Goertz was honored last spring and her name has been engraved on the permanent Sportsmanship Award Plaque.

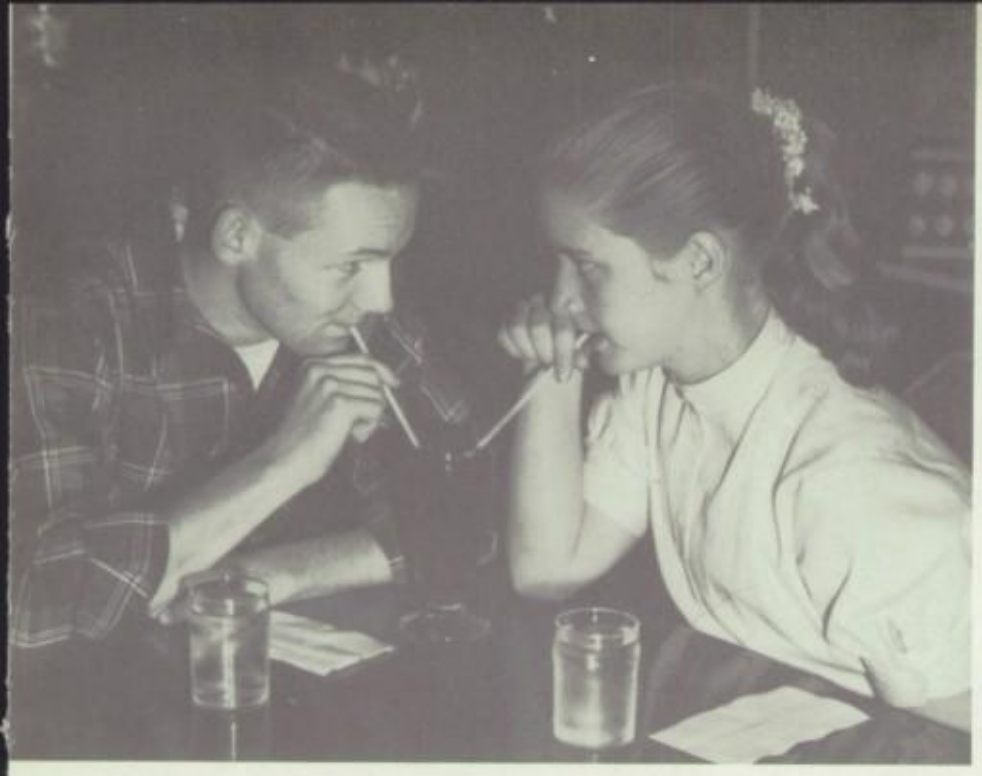
Joyce Theurkauf points out a smart new pattern of wallpaper to Ron Glasoe at PHELPS-CLARK CORPORATION, 909 E. Green Street, Pasadena. You'll find Phelps-Clark has a complete line of wallpaper and paints, as well as all other items to suit your decorating needs.

Lanz dresses and Ivy League men's wear make BILL WINN, 2366 Huntington Drive, San Marino, a popular gathering place for Titans. Sharon Little stops to admire a pair of Bermuda shorts and socks that Tom Cottle is selecting.

Jean Goertz and Barbara Layfield admire one of the attractive White Stag sweaters featured at SHEPARD'S, 2334 Huntington Drive, San Marino. Shepard's is your San Marino headquarters for all White Stag Sportswear.

Pat Turner helps Rich Vanasek choose from among the many fine sweaters featured at SAN MARINO MEN'S SHOP, 2154 Huntington Drive, San Marino. San Marino Men's also has on display tailored-to-measure suits and a complete line of clothes for teen agers.

Titanian photographer Bill Rowland watches Nancy Falkenburg examine one of the fine cameras now on sale at McDONALD'S CAMERA SHOP. McDonald's, 2126 Huntington Drive, features the finest in cameras and projectors, photographic supplies and equipment.



Donna Jones and Denny DePry enjoy a Coke made from the fountain of the HOSTESS SHOP, 2512 Huntington Drive, San Marino. Also featuring ice cream, party favors, and greeting cards, the Hostess Shop is truly "A shop your friends tell their friends about."

Sandie Swisher and Carol Cone stop to make a purchase at the BOWMAN PHARMACY. An exclusive prescription pharmacy, Bowman's is conveniently located at 1427 San Marino Avenue —next door to the San Marino Medical Center.

Patty Gammon and Cheri Renshaw look over some of the merchandise on sale at SAN MARINO HARDWARE, 2134 Huntington Drive, San Marino. It's San Marino Hardware for rentals, housewares, electrical supplies, tools, and builders hardware.

"PAUL KENT PORTRAITS" is a term synonymous with fine quailty photography in San Marino. Here in the studio, 2539 Mission Street, San Marino, are April Hagenbaugh and Bob Campbell. They're admiring an enlargement made from one of the many pictures in the 1596 Titanian taken by Kent Studios.

Lyle Joesting is delighted to receive from Eric Wilson a fine corsage bought at ERNA'S FLOWERS, 2428 Huntington Drive, San Marino. Whenever you see quality flowers, from corsages to the bouquet presented to the SMHS football queen, you can be sure they came from Erna's Salesman Ray Garland shows Sharon Nissen one of the fine wrist watches featured at STEDMAN'S JEWELRY STORE, 100 E. Main Street, Alhambra. Stedman's carries Elgin, Hamilton, and Bulova watches, as well as silverware, men's and ladies' jewelry, diamonds, and stone rings.

"Best wishes to the Class of "56" from the management at SAN MARINO SPORTING GOODS. Here in the store, 2154 Huntington Drive, Brad Peery shows Jon Kite one of the quality tennis rackets now on sale. For tops in athletic equipment, Titan athletes agree on San Marino Sporting Goods.

Judy Heitkemper and Jeff Godard are anticipating a good dinner at the MARINO HOUSE, 2657 Mission Street, San Marino. As Judy and Jeff will tell you, you'll find lunches and dinners at popular prices at the Marino House, as well as four banquet rooms for private parties.

Joan Primm stops to chat with Bruce Slack, as she admires this new Cadillac Eldorado at the BEWLEY ALLEN CO. If you're looking for a quality new car, you'll find it at Bewley Allen's, 801 E. Main Street, Alhambra, "Your Local Cadillac Dealer."

"If we haven't got what you want, we'll get it!" is the slogan of BILL GAMBRELL'S MARKET, 2122 Huntington Drive, San Marino. However, Rich Thatcher and Denis Crawford, picking out a half-gallon of ice cream, seem to find everything they want at Gambrell's.

What did he say? Driver Skip Face may be discussing new Royal 76 gasoline with pretty Sue Foist, but we doubt it. Doesn't matter, though. He's stopped at the right station and the right jump for the West's most powerful premium. That's new Royal 76. Just ask Mari Lin Foist or Carlton Myers there with them — or "Minute Man" Ron Geisel. These Titans at San Marino High know when they drive in at the sign of the big 76 — they drive away with The Finest!
